

The Max Planck Institute for Innovation and Competition is committed to fundamental legal and economic research on processes of innovation and competition and their regulation. As an independent research institution, we provide evidence-based research results to academia, policymakers, the private sector as well as the general public.

The department of Prof. Dr. Dr. h.c. Reto M. Hilty announces the opening of positions as

Senior Research Fellow/Postdoc (m/f/d)

initially limited to two years

We offer

Recent research focuses on questions of sustainability and climate change, including world nutrition, but also medical care. Based on the premise that existing and future challenges can be met primarily on the basis of new technical solutions, the Institute investigates incentive mechanisms and determinants of innovation as well as their implications in these areas, including the analysis of competition processes and possible undesirable effects.

We are looking for

To strengthen the legal studies team, we are looking for Postdocs who want to focus their scientific qualification on one or more topics within these research areas and who are willing to actively participate in respective research projects of the Institute. In addition, we expect knowledge of intellectual property and/or competition law.

Candidates are expected to hold a Ph.D. in intellectual property law and/or competition law.

The gross salary is based on the Labor Agreement for Public Service (TVöD).
